

GLOBAL ENGINEERS LEADERSHIP.

PROGRAMME

OPENING MINDS
DISCOVERING POSSIBILITIES
CREATING OPPORTUNITIES

Organised by:

In Collaboration with:

School of Continuing and Lifelong Education

Introduction

Why the need for a GELP?

- Better appreciation and awareness of future engineering trends in the global environment
- Open windows of opportunities to connect with other business leaders globally
- From local/ regional to global mindset
- Exposure to a different culture and working relationships
- The final part of the Engineering Progression Pathway

Learning Objectives & Features

Participant Learning Objectives

- To understand and be prepared for regional / global challenges
- To anticipate and adapt to changes in a complex, disrupting and uncertain world future
- To gain extensive networking experience with high-level industry leaders through fireside chats, dialogues and immersion programmes
- To learn and understand more about yourself and bring out the leader in you

Programme Features

- Global Engineers Leadership Programme (GELP) targets C-level (minus 1,2) executives, Directors of GLCs and SMEs
- Mix of regional and local business leaders
- Up to 30 participants
- 5 days residential programme

Opening Minds, Discovering Possibilities, Creating Opportunities

Opening Minds

- On the landscape of the region and inspire Asian companies to go International
- To emerging technology that changes the way we live, play and work
- To immerse ourselves in the stories of how others have done it; to listen, distil and learn from their experiences
- To apply tools on how to anticipate change at a Marco level (foresight) and a micro level (re-design HR practices)
- To see the interplay of forces across time and space
- To think across boundaries within ourselves

Opening Minds, Discovering Possibilities, Creating Opportunities

Discovering Possibilities

- In physical and digital markets
- By learning from others
- By doing to learn
- Being comfortable with uncertainties
- By developing an appetite for uncertainties
- Through different perspectives of the world, people and ourselves

Creating Opportunities

- For our businesses
- For social impact
- For others to make an impact

Programme Overview

| | |
|----------------------|--|
| Day 1 & 2 | Take participants on a journey of the broad mega trends and the contradictory forces that will impact Singapore and Southeast Asia, and how we live, work and play. We will explore the questions of: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- What are the political and economic forces at play as Asia rises?- What are the tensions at play as we leap into Industry 4.0?- What are the exponential advancements in technology that will transform industries?- Will our formulas for urbanization and infrastructure development withstand the challenges to come? |
| Day 3 | Having established the need to embrace contradictions, we will explore techniques that enable participants to: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Transform discomfort into willingness to act- Be more agile as they think across time and space- Reflect on what it means to be accountable in a fast changing environment |
| Day 4 | We explore what the megatrends we have encountered mean for People, in terms of the individual, communities, and society at large. We explore this within the context of the future workplace, where the forces of technology, demographics, values and sentiments will come to the fore. We will provide techniques that will enable leaders to: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Anticipate needs- Harness empathy productively |
| Day 5 | On the final day of this learning journey, we wrap up with an exploration of what it means for the individual leader to have courage and compassion in this disrupted new world |

This approach is supported by a structure that blends classroom discussions centred primarily on case studies, industry visits, panel discussions and a capstone project. Further networking lunches and dinners would be arranged to enhance the opportunity for participants to learn from each other.